Spartanburg's Medical School is

inspired

VCOM-Carolinas is the Spartanburg, SC campus of the Edward Via College of Osteopathic Medicine (VCOM), a four-year private medical school founded with a clear purpose to alleviate the physician shortage in the Southeast.

Reflecting the growing diversity of the U.S. population, our student body is recruited from rural and medically underrepresented minority communities, and those with a strong commitment to underserved care.

With over 69% of graduates going into primary care specialties such as family medicine, internal medicine, pediatrics and obstetrics/gynecology, many VCOM-trained physicians return home to serve their communities and improve health outcomes across the region.

Find out how we are inspired to make a difference in Spartanburg and beyond.
